Surrounded by a majestic ring of mountains, between Sognefjord and Hardangerfjord, the lakeside town of Voss is blessed with a magnificent natural backdrop of snow-capped peaks and traditional Norwegian charm. Only an hour by train from Bergen it offers an excellent base to explore some of Norway's most renowned landscapes.

Voss can cater for all tastes, whether you are looking for relaxation or excitement, there are a number of locally organised excursions and activities that allow you to make the most of this magnificent fjord setting. Joining escorted tours or taking public transport allow you to be as flexible as you wish and during the summer months a cable car to the top of Mount Hanguren opens up a network of superb trails that give spectacular views of the town and the landscape. There are also opportunities to try rafting, horse riding and kayak and cycling tours for those looking for a little more adventure. For those interested in the area's fascinating history, the Voss Folk Museum houses a collection of traditional handicrafts amongst its series of sixteen original wooden buildings dating back to the 1600s, whilst cultural events during the summer months include folk dancing, folk music festivals and traditional farm visits.
